MONROE AND SHEELY.

THE TWO CHAMPION BURGLARS HELD TO ANSWER.

How They Burgled Mr. Brodrick's House, and How Sheely Cleaned Out Attwell's Room — Monroe Squeals on His Pal.

The examination of Dan Sheely and Dan Monroe, the burglars, on the first or joint charge took place yesterday before Justice Austin. There are three charges against these men, one jointly and two seperately. The first one was for burglary of W. J. Broderick's house at 237 San Pedro street, which was committed on July 25th, and the other two for the burglary of room 20 in the Lanfranco block, occupied at the time by Thomas Aturel, which crime was committed on or about July 1st.

The defence was represented y Mr. Crawford for Monroe, and J. M. Damron for Sheely, while Deputy District-Attorney George Denis appeared on behalf of the People.

The examination commenced yesterday morning at 10 o'clock by Mr. Broderick taking the stand and being sworn. He then testified that he and Mrs. Broderick had gone to Santa Monica on the day of the burglary, leaving the house in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Venezuela, who were in their employ as domestics, and a Chinaman named Ah Sam, who was employed in their garden. Upon their return from Santa Monica they found that the house had been entered and a number of articles taken. Among the missing things was some valuable jewelry. Mr. Broderick then identified a beautiful bracelet, some pearl shirt-studs, a necklet of emeralds, a pistol and numerous other articles, found partly in the possession of Monroe and partly in the possession of Sheely. He also stated that all the doors and windows of his house were guarded by burglar alarms.

Mr. Venezuela then testified, after being sworn, that on the afternoon the burglary was committed, about 4 o'clock, he was conversing with his wife, when they heard the burglar alarm sounded upstairs. He then went up to see what was the matter, and found that one of the side windows of the house was open, and saw one of the burglars drop from the roof of the porch and run away. The burglar alarm had been sounded when the window was opened. He could not swear positively that Monroe was one of the burglars, but he was of the opinion that Sheely was the man he saw running away.

Mrs. Venezuela testified that some time in the afternoon, about 4 o'clock, she heard the alarm go off and had run out into the yard to see what was the reason for it. After she had reached the outside door of the house she had seen a man running away, holding a parcel under his arm, and had seen the Chinaman, Ah Sam, in pursuit of him. When the man found he was being pursued, he dropped his bundle and got clear away. Mrs. Venezuela recognized Sheely as the man who was running away. She was almost sure he was the man. She also stated that there was another man on the porch under the window that had been opened, but she did not get a good look at him, so couldn't be certain whether it was Monroe or not. Both she and her husband had paid attention to the burglar alarm, and knew when it went off there was some person trying either a window or a door.

Constable Ed Smith then testified as to the capture of the prisoners, and stated that from information received from Monroe he had arrested Sheely as the principal in the burglaries committed. After he had taken Sheely to the County Jail he had endeavored to discover from his prisoner where the goods stolen at different times had been hidden. Witness stated that for some time his efforts were in vain, but that defendant, Sheely, as soon as he discovered that Monroe had told all he knew about the various crimes they had committed in consort, had confessed that the goods were at San Pedro. The prisoner had then asked witness to let him go and he would return with the articles, but on hearing that witness had no authority to allow him to go unless in the custody of an officer, he had stated that he would go with one of witness' deputies and point out where the things were. Deputy Constable Alexander had then gone to San Pedro with Sheely and had recovered a number of articles, many of which had since been identified as the property of Capt. Thom, Mr. Broderick and others whose houses had been burglarized recently. He had previous knowledge of Sheely and knew him to be a hard citizen.

Mr. Crawford here announced that the defense, as far as Munroe was concerned, would rest.

Mr. Damron, for Sheely, stated that he would introduce some testimony for the defense of his client, and expected that with witnesses from San Pedro whom he would place on the stand he would be able to prove an alibi.

John Conrad, better known as "Coffee Jack," the keeper of a saloon and dance-house at San Pedro, was then called to the stand, and on being sworn testified that Sheely was in his employ on the 26th of July, and for several days preceding that date. He stated that on the 25th of July Sheely had been arrested by Constable Burdette of San Pedro, and tried before Justice Wicks on the charge of being a vagrant. After the trial, which was held during the morning of that day, Sheely had come to him and got $6 as bail money. This was some time between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m. Witness stated that his reason for remembering that particular day was that he was arrested and fined himself in the afternoon for resisting an officer. He would not swear that Sheely could not have gone to Los Angeles and returned during the time he was out of witness' sight.

A transcript of Justice Wicks' docket, containing the entry of the trial of Sheely on the charge of vagrancy, was here presented and accepted as evidence.

James Dixon then took the stand and testified that he was a resident of San Pedro and was acquainted with the defendant, Sheely. Sheely was a fellow workman of his. He had been in Los Angeles on the day the burglary was committed, but did not see Sheely on the train, either coming or going. He had seen the prisoner on the afternoon of that day at San Pedro, and had played base-ball with him. Prisoner had then told him he had been arrested for being a vagrant.

Frank Erickson was the next witness, and he testified that he was acquainted with the defendant at San Pedro. He had seen him in San Pedro on the afternoon of the day he had been arrested for vagrancy. Did not know the exact time, but it was between the hours of 4 and 5. Witness was a night watchman in the employ of "Coffee Jack."

Lawrence Siral was the next witness for the defense. Siral testified that he was a piano player in the employ of "Coffee Jack." He knew defendant and had played base-ball with him on the afternoon of the day the burglary had been committed on Mr. Broderick's house. Witness could not explain how it was that he had played the piano for "Coffee Jack," when Jack had just testified that he kept nothing but a bar. He said he played the piano in a dance hall.

Ah Sam then took the stand and through an interpreter testified that he was an outdoor employé of Mr. Broderick's, and had pursued a man whom he saw running away with a bundle, taken from the house on the day of the burglary. He did not recognize Sheely as the man he was running after, as he had not seen his face.

After some argument on the part of the counsel, in which Mr. Denis criticised the appearance and character of the San Pedro witnesses who were there for the purpose of proving an alibi for Sheely, Justice Austin held the prisoners over for trial in the Superior Court, fixing their bail at $2000 each.

It now appears that Dan Sheely is an adept in crime considering his age. Within about two years he was arrested for abducting a girl under age, but escaped. Afterward the girl went to him and they were married. Times then getting pretty hard with him, he forced his wife to lead a life of shame, and he subsisted on the proceeds. It was in this woman's room at San Pedro where the articles were found by Deputy Constable Alexander which have since been identified as articles stolen in the various burglaries committed by Sheely. The girl now goes by the name of Maud Robinson, and is a noted member of the demi-monde. Sheely has, since the time of his marriage, figured in the police court on several occasions, and has, on different charges, generally of theft, been an inmate of the County Jail.

A Second Case.

The trial of Dennis Sheely, better known as Dan, on the charge of robbing the room of Thomas Attwell, on July 1st, came up before Justice Austin late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Attwell testified to finding his room burglarized in the daytime, between the hours of 8 and 12. He identified a cigar-holder and several small articles of jewelry, and also an embroidered pair of suspenders. He testified also that he had been following and chasing these men for a long time, suspecting them on proofs in his possession.

Some surprise was shown by Sheely and his attorney when Assistant District Attorney George Denis announced that Dan Monroe, the accomplice, would be the next witness for the prosecution. Monroe did not wish to testify until his attorney, Hugh Crawford, could be sent for.

On Mr. Crawford's arrival Monroe was sworn.

He testified: I am a painter. I was at work in the Lanfranco block. I worked there three of four hours in the morning. I met Sheely on the corner of Commercial and First streets. He came up to where I was working. I met him in the hallway. He asked me how long I would be. I told him I wouldn't be more than half an hour. He went into the room and pretty soon he came out with the bundle of things. I told him there would be no trouble about it. He said: "Trouble be ——. You are working here; there will be no trouble with you." He gave me these things, the suspenders, etc., and I brought them to my room.

On cross-examination: There was no one else present when he gave these things to me. I knew that they were stolen. I wasn't working in Atwell's room, but right across the way. The door was not broken open; it was open. These articles are not all of them. There is a pistol that I gave to a friend that is not exhibited. I saw no diamonds. Sheely had a bundle under his coat that he carried away with him. I have known Sheely about a year. I did not pawn any of those things. When I first met him I was going to Whittier & Fuller's, on Los Angeles street. After the robbery I met him once in the afternoon of that day and the next day, and he told me to look out after the stuff. The things were taken about 10 o'clock in the morning, perhaps half past. I remained working for Mr. Marsh until I was arrested. The only thing I had to do with the burglary, was that I took these things. I don't think I have disposed of any of the articles that we got there at that time. Sheely wrote me a letter while in jail. I gave the letter to Mr. Crawford, my attorney."

Counsel for Sheely was not anxious to see the letter, and Sheely looked downcast when it was learned that the letter had fallen into other hands.

After Monroe had testified and given the business all way, counsel on both sides said they were willing to submit the case. Not so with Sheely, who, brushing past his counsel, announced his determination to testify, despite the advice of his counsel. After getting on the stand, his testimony amounted to little more than a general denial of Monroe's statement, and a declaration that he had a slight acquaintance only with his accomplice in crime. He did say that it was impossible for him to have committed the crime at 8 or even 10 o'clock in the morning as he never got out of bed until anywhere between 12 and 3 in the day.

Two letters were shown a TIMES reporter last evening by Hugh Crawford, in which Sheely begs Monroe not to give him away, but to clear him.

Justice Austin held Sheely to answer, his bail being set at $2000.

MEAN DAN.

THE DUSKY DUDE EMBEZZLER CONVICTED

Of Robbing the Benefactors of His Race—The Jury Recommends Him to the Mercy of the Court.

Dan Lewis, the negro minstrel who got up an entertainment at Pasadena on June 13th for the benefit of John Brown's children, and who was accused by the District Attorney of converting the proceeds—$250—to his own use, was on trial in Department 1 of the Superior Court yesterday, before Judge Gardiner.

Jason Brown was the first witness called, and testified that on or about May 15th Lewis came to him and stated that he wanted to get up a theatrical performance for the benefit of himself and the other descendants of John Brown. At first witness would not consent, but finally yielded with the understanding that the proceeds, after deducting expenses, should be turned over to himself and his brother, when they would give a part to a colored woman over 80 years old who was in indigent circumstances, and give the balance to the Soldiers' home. The entertainment was held, but Lewis did not turn over one cent to him.

Owen Brown's testimony was substantially the same as Jason's. H. N. Rush testified that he went to see the performance and paid $1 for a ticket; he said he should judge the house to be three-quarters full; thought most of the people went because they wished to help out the Brown family.

W. T. Weatherby stated that he had tickets in his possession for sale, and that he turned over about $160 to Lewis. H. H. Suesserott, Weatherby's employer, testified to about the same thing.

Deputy Constable Hammel testified that as far as he knew the defendant's character was good.

Lewis was then put upon the stand, when some little excitement was occasioned by his denying that H. N. Rush had paid his way, but on the contrary asserted that he passed Mr. Rush in; he also said that the entertainment did not pay expenses, but that he came out $10 behind, and he had to pawn a suit of clothes to make good that amount.

Mr. Costello, who had charge of the box-office, testified that Rush did not buy a ticket of him. This closed the evidence, and after short arguments on both sides the case was given to the jury.

CONVICTED.

The jury came in at 7:50 with a verdict finding Lewis guilty of embezzling $100, but recommending him to the mercy of the court.

STILL WAITING.

The San Diego Boom Band and Its Loss.

The San Diego Band (real-estate boomers, as they are called) started East last Monday, but only got as far as San Bernardino. They started in a special car, loaded with fine wines, Mexican cigars and tons of real estate street dodgers, and were having a high old time, when they discovered that one of their principal horn tooters was missing. An investigation proved that the blower had been left behind. A meeting was held at once, and they came to the unanimous conclusion that they could not go back East and play before all of the crowned heads of Missouri, for real estate's sake, without their chum, so they telegraphed back to the city of Bay'n'climate for him to take the next train, and that they would wait for him at San Bernardino. They were still waiting for him at last accounts.

The Circuit Court.

Weston, Kelly, McCord, Gallager and McKenzie, who have been indicted by the first United States Grand Jury that ever operated in Southern California, were before the Circuit Court yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. They were not ready to enter their plea, and the case went over until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock, when it is expected that a number of others, who were indicted, will have been arrested. McKenzie walked into the Marshal's office yesterday morning after the reading of his indictment and gave himself up. The case of the Government against Pena was dismissed in accordance with the recommendation of the Grand Jury.

On motion J. T. Blarden and J. C. Daly were admitted to practice.

Departures by Steamer.

THE SAN DIMAS TRACT!

-:- 300 Acres, in Lots of From 5 to 40 Acres, -:-

TO SUIT PURCHASERS, ARE SELLING AT

FROM $150 TO $400 PER ACRE!

THIS FINE PROPERTY IS MOST BEAUTIFULLY SITUATED AT the foot of Sierra Madre Mountains on California Central Railroad, only twenty-five miles from Los Angeles, and one mile and a half from the flourishing town of Lordsburg.

THE SOIL OF THIS TRACT

Will grow luxuriantly all the fruits, citrus and deciduous, known to our semi-tropic clime

ESPECIALLY THE ORANGE,

WHOSE TREES ARE FREE FROM SCALE, and whose fruit is abundant in yield and bright in color, and of delicious flavor. THE FAMOUS MUSCAT GRAPES, the finest table and raisin-making grape in the world, as well as the best varieties of wine-producing grapes, flourish on this land. LARGE CROPS OF ALFALFA, of vegetables, and of all the cereals, respond to the hand of industry on this FERTILE SAN DIMAS TRACT.

IN POINT OF WATER SUPPLY

It is, perhaps, the most favored of any tract in the county. THE SAN JOSE LAND AND WATER COMPANY, who are the owners, and under whose auspices this splendid tract is put on the market, guarantee at least one inch of pure water to each ten-acre tract sold. This is

PIPED DIRECTLY FROM SAN DIMAS CREEK,

A NEVER-FAILING, SNOW-FED MOUNTAIN STREAM, whose crystal waters are supplemented by living springs adjacent to the tract. As a means of facilitating this abundant supply of water, the company are now excavating a tunnel of 800 feet in length to drain the under-current of the San Dimas Creek, and to be used as a conduit from their mammoth reservoir in the mountains. The capacity of this

MOUNTAIN RESERVOIR IS 150 MILLIONS OF GALLONS.

The geographical situation of the tract is beautifully picturesque. Every acre of it commands the splendid scenery of San Gabriel, Santa Ana and other valleys, with the superb mountain ranges from the coast to San Bernardino, that, towering over each other, frame in the varying pictures of which PASADENA, POMONA, PALOMARES, LORDSBURG and SAN DIMAS are the pleasant centers. This tobacco habit is a growing evil among the youths of America. Its tendency with boys is to lead to worse faults.

THE San Francisco Post learns, with ill-concealed alarm, that "there is to be a huge excursion from this city [San Francisco] to Los Angeles. The object being to start another boom in Los Angeles County. The preparations are already being made, and it is said that the arrangements will eclipse anything that has gone before it." It would be just like us, Brer Post.

THE Oceanside Star says: "Oceanside has three prominent enterprises to back her, viz: The building of the Atchison road from Santa Ana to Oceanside, the San Diego Central to Escondido, and the great San Luis Rey Flume enterprise, upon which work will be commenced soon. A DISPATCH in the San Francisco Bulletin reads as follows:

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29.—Col. Balm and wife, of Santa Monica, have been offered $6,000,000 for the celebrated Laguna ranch, comprising several thousand acres. The Santa Fé Railroad Company wants the property.

Who is "Col. Balm?" Is he the party who is supposed to have his residence in Gilead? And are not the above figures about ten times larger than the cold facts warrant?

THERE came near being another accident on the new railroad up the coast the other day. The Ventura Free Press describes the escape:

The train at Santa Barbara came near running off the track owing to a switch being left open. The engineer was able to stop within about six feet of the switch; a little further would have precipitated the cars over an embankment some thirty feet. The trainmen on the line, it is hoped, will soon get "the hang of the barn" and not start off on the wrong foot any more.

THERE is some hope for the South in the fact that its industrial growth during the first six months of 1887 was greater than ever before in the same period. If the South will settle down to good honest industry it will go a long ways towards disabusing the public mind of that section of the idea of the supremacy of an idle population over an industrious one. They may yet learn that intelligent labor is ennobling, and forget to look with contempt upon the "northern mudsill."

THE very latest California lie comes from Arizona. It runs as follows, and the Arizona Citizen is the author of it to the best of our knowledge and belief, as we take it from the columns of that entertaining and picturesque journal:

The famous Derth's Valley, in California, with which many of our readers, especially miners and prospectors, are somewhat familiar, is to be turned into an ostrich farm. The enterprising proprietor purchased his eggs in Los Angeles and hatched them in the sand without the aid of the parent bird. The ranch is located near the California end of the valley, and is 220 feet below the level of the sea.

If we should ask what in the deuce and Tom Walker the big and voracious birds are going to live on in Death Valley, we suppose the reply would be promptly forthcoming, "Gravel, sand, cacti and caloric!" And that would shut off argument.

The True Basis of a Steady Boom.

Land subdivision, with small tracts sold at moderate prices for legitimate agricultural purposes, constitute the only true basis of a healthy and permanent boom. We make this broad statement, and believe the soundness of the proposition cannot be successfully attacked.

When a country is full of population, studded with small farms bought at bed-rock prices, and in the process of being worked on a legitimate basis, that country will be prosperous.

This state of things will make prosperous towns and cities—plenty of them, and as fast as they need to grow up. The city should not grow faster, proportionately, than the country; if it does, the growth will not be healthy.

Labor makes production, and production is wealth.

When the country is both populous and productive, it is wealthy.

Then it is that the land is truly valuable, and justifies the placing of high prices upon it.

That makes a solid basis for a long-continuing boom; and in the midst of such a country vigorous towns and rich cities grow up, with so sound a backing that they cannot fail.

But to commence "'tother end to," and attempt to build the town before the country about it is populated and developed and made profitably productive, is to reverse the logical and natural order of things and build upon a foundation of sand. It is organizing failure, not success.

The soil is the true basis of prosperity.

Hence it is that immense holdings in a single hand are not good for the country.

Subdivision, settlement, labor and production—these make true prosperity.

A thousand homes where one stood before; two blades of grass where one grew before—this should be the aim in all parts of California susceptible of occupancy and cultivation.

We concur in what our colleague, the Sacramento Bee, says on this subject:

"The Bee has said, and it repeats it again, that there can be no permanent, steady, substantial boom until the large land grants are subdivided. Let us not deceive ourselves in this matter. Why was the Sacramento Colonization Company organized, if not to remedy this same evil of which we speak? A number of public-spirited citizens got together, fully aware that it is useless to invite immigration unless there is some place to put the immigrants, and their plan is to buy some of these large tracts, and divide them up into small holdings. The more they buy, with that object in view, the better will it be for Sacramento. This paper then again repeats that there can be no permanent, steady, substantial boom until the large land grants are subdivided. Readers, you are all excited now. One year from date see if our assertion is not true."

When the froth and foam which covers the boom shall have been dispelled—when it shall have vanished into thin air, so to speak—we must fall back upon the underlying substratum, which is nothing more nor less than land—land at what it is worth for productive purposes.

We do not forget, at the same time, that something must be allowed for superiority of climate in California—an element of positive value, making the land actually worth more than land equally fertile in other quarters of the globe.

Air is good, but productive enterprise, to be solid, must not be "in the air."

Hotels and Hotel Grounds.

More hotel accommodations, and of the best sort, are among the demands of Los Angeles. The enterprise of our city will be judged somewhat by the character of its hostelries. The people coming here will certainly doubt the solidity of our growth if we fail to make adequate provisions for the needs of the traveling public. First-class hotels have always been regarded as not only an index of prosperity, but also as measurable indications of the refinement of a community. The old-fashioned tavern does not belong to the present age. It is a thing of the past.

Of course we all know that Los Angeles has made great advancement in the matter of hotel accommodations within the past three years. She has made a good beginning, but she has not done enough in this direction. She needs now to commence work in this line on an altogether different plan. She requires not only an immense hotel, or a smaller one with cottages surrounding, but she should plant it also in the midst of extensive grounds, which in the future may be highly embellished with trees, flowers, arbors, pleasant walks and gardens. There would be nothing visionary in a scheme setting apart many acres for the grounds of a modern hotel combining all the improvements that the skill of the architect could give it, and the genius of the landscape gardener could throw about it.

Santa Barbara, with one-tenth of our population, has her Arlington, which has done as much to advertise that locality as a desirable resort as has the charms of her climate. What would quiet old Monterey have been without her Del Monte? She realized what it has done for her; and she allowed hardly a day to pass after its destruction by fire, before she set actively about the work of its rebuilding.

San Diego, with one-fifth of the population of Los Angeles, will soon have her million-dollar hotel, and already its seven hundred rooms are engaged for the winter. It will attract thousands to that city. People who have the means for extensive travel are influenced a great deal in the selection of resorts by the climate. This is a prominent consideration. But only second to this are the accommodations offered, and the degree of comfort and luxury to be obtained. Nor are beautiful surroundings unconsidered. Hotel life is more attractive and more in keeping with the home life of the rich if it is not confined within the brick walls.

A hotel in the midst of attractive grounds is more in keeping with the semi-tropical charms of our climate if the building is not surrounded by the glare of pavements and the dust of streets.

The block now occupied by Gen. Miles, as military headquarters, perhaps offers as good a site as could be selected in the heart of the city. If used for such purpose, no portion of the land should be sold, but all of it should be appropriated to the hotel, and placed in the highest condition of improvement. We express this opinion without knowing the present views and intentions of the owners, or, indeed, just who they are, or whether the site can be had for hotel purposes.

Other sites might be obtained, but those moving in this matter will make a mistake enduring in its effects if ample grounds are not secured in which to rear a hotel worthy of the future of this city. Plenty of room is an essential not to be overlooked. Los Angeles cannot afford to allow herself to be outrivaled in this thing by her smaller neighbors. In these great projects for her future it is not the part of wisdom to be "penny wise and pound foolish."

THE Lawrence American says:

"Rev. Dr. Miner has undertaken to make the people of Massachusetts believe that Henry L. Dawes, George F. Hoar, John D. Long, Rufus S. Frost and other like men are the allies of the dram shops, and that the Democratic party is the better friend of temperance than the Republican. If Mr. Miner were not a clergyman, a position of this sort would entitle him to some vigorous adjectives."

The editor of the American is so mad at the Reverend Miner that he feels like going off to Mecklenburg-Schwerin.

SOMEHOW, says the Boston Journal, since the complete returns from Kentucky came in, we have heard nothing of that explanation which was made so profusely at first, that the reason for the falling off of the Democratic majority was apathy and a neglect to vote. As the vote polled was the largest in the history of the State, it is perceived that the explanation does not explain.

IN the last thirty-two elections New York has been carried sixteen times by the Democrats and fourteen times by the Republicans. Twice the result was a divided one, each party electing some of its candidates. Each party has elected seven Governors in this time.

SEEMS to us that there is a disposition on the part of Oakland to "rub it in." Hear the Enquirer: "Oakland has beaten Los Angeles at base-ball and also in booming." Has she?

THE OAKLAND BOOM.

Route of the Woodard Short-Line Railway—Notes.

Col. J. H. Woodard, president of the Oakland, Alameda and Laundry Farm Railway, sent the following note to the editor of the Oakland Tribune on the 28th ult.: "The map printed in the Tribune of Saturday and Chronicle of yesterday, showing the line of the Oakland, Alameda and Laundry Farm Railway on the south and west of Mills Seminary is incorrect. Our line, as the survey stakes will show, runs on the east and north of Mills Seminary. I make this statement in justice to ourselves, and for the information of the public. Yours truly,

"J. H. WOODARD,
"President Oakland, Alameda and Laundry Farm Railway."

ELECTRIC LIGHTS IN LAUNDRY FARM.

[Oakland Tribune, Aug. 28th.]

The Jenny Electric Light Company, in consideration of a lot and a building, will erect a mast on the hill opposite Mills College, and will maintain an electric light free for a year. The Oakland, Alameda and Laundry Farm Railroad Company has ordered two masts at Laundry Farm.

"SETTLING RAPIDLY,"

[San Francisco Post, Aug. 30th.]

"The Cream tract in Laundry Farm," said one of the firm of Jackson, Vandercook & Melvin, "is selling rapidly, lots selling easily for $400 and $500. There was also a great demand for lots in the Prospect Hill tract at prices ranging from $750 to $1200.

THE BOOM SOLIDIFYING.

Col. J. H. Woodard and his associates are busy perfecting the arrangements for the building of a railroad from Seminary Park station. They also intend to place the electric light in the strip of land which they have bought near Mills Seminary.

AGAIN THE ATCHISON.

A party of Atchison, Topeka engineers, with Maj. George H. Bonebrake, Vice President of the California Central, will make an inspection of the California and Nevada line, from Oakland to Walnut creek tomorrow.

It is said that the surveyors are to be set at work soon on a survey southward from the present proposed terminus of the Woodard line at Laundry Farm, through Crow Cañon near Haywards.

THE OAKLANDER'S HYMN.

Oh, Boomer Land, sweet Boomer Land,
As on thy highest lots I stand,
I look away across the fee,
Where margins are prepared for me,
And view the booming glory shore,
My heaven, my bank, forevermore.

Pennsylvania Democrats and Iowa Greenbackers Holding State Conventions—The Utes Again Reported on Their Reservations — Express Companies Consolidated.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] Judge Donohue has signed an order for the arrest of Albert Netter in a suit against him and his brother to recover a claim of about $45,000. Bail was today fixed at $30,000. This action against Netter is brought by members of the firm of Davis & Freeman. Plaintiffs set forth that the firm of Netter & Co. represented to them, as well as to many others who borrowed money of them, that they were engaged in loaning large sums for wealthy individuals, who were willing to accept a lower rate of interest than was then ruling, on condition that the collateral should be first-class and that the margin between the amount advanced upon the securities and the market price should be wide. In this way Netter & Co. obtained a large amount of securities which they were able to hypothecate for much more money than they advanced on them. They pocketed the difference and when detected absconded.

POLITICAL.

The Pennsylvania Democratic State Convention in Session.

ALLENTOWN (Pa.), Aug. 31. [By the Associated Press.] The Democratic State Convention convened at noon, with a large attendance of prominent State and local politicians. The most conspicuous absentee was ex-Senator William A. Wallace, whose failure to meet his old-time foe from the Second Congressional district has been a marked incident of the gathering. Randall was the most prominent figure in the Philadelphia delegation. To the surprise of nearly everybody Congressman William L. Scott appeared is a substitute member of the Erie delegation. Mr. Scott's appearance as a delegate was the result of the late conference of anti-Hay-Randall leaders, when it was determined that Scott should go upon the Committee on Resolusions and contest with Randall for chairman of that body. At 12 o'clock Dallas Sanders called the convention to order.

Ex-Congressman Post was made temporary chairman of the convention.

During the course of his address he said: 'President Cleveland has approved in the past two years more private pension bills than were signed by Republican Presidents in twelve years."

After the speech T. J. Kernan moved that when the convention adjourn it be to meet at 3 o'clock, in order to allow the Committee on Resolutions to prepare a report.

A little scene occurred at this point, when Randall arose and suggested that the time for reconvening be fixed at 4 o'clock.

The hour was finally fixed at 3:30, and the convention adjourned to that time.

The Committee on Resolutions met at once. On motion of Randall, William L. Scott was made chairman, and a sub-committee of six was appointed by the chair to prepare a report for the consideration of the general committee.

The Committee on Resolutions unanimously reported a platform, which was adopted.

The platform renews allegiance to the principles of the platform adopted at Chicago in 1884, indorses the administration of President Cleveland, favors liberal pensions to deserving Union soldiers and sailors, commends the National Administration in reclaiming and throwing open for actual settlement 100,000,000 acres of land wrongfully held by corporations, and sympathizes with the Irish people in their effort to obtain home rule.

J. R. Thompson was nominated for Supreme Judge, and B. J. McGrann for State Treasurer.

CONSOLIDATED.

Two Powerful Express Companies Unite Under One Management.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] The official announcement was made today by the president of the United States Express Company that the plant, franchise and business of the Baltimore and Ohio Express have been sold to the United States Company for a period of thirty years. The agreement was consummated last week and the transfer will take effect tomorrow. Negotiations for the sale have been pending for about a month, having begun with President Garrett before his departure for Europe.

It is stated on Wall street that the price paid was $2,500,000, of which $1,000,000 was paid in cash and $1,500,000 in United States Express stock.

The President of the United States Express denies the correctness of the figures, but declines to state the terms on which the property was purchased, saying that the matter was private. No change will be made in the management or name of the company. This acquisition adds about 5000 more miles to the 15,000 miles already operated by the United States Express Company, and makes the most powerful company of its kind in America.

A RACE WAR.

Serious Trouble Between Whites and Blacks at Petersburg, Va.

PETERSBURG (Va.), Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] This city is in a feverish state of excitement today over a clash between the races. Last week a negro was fined $50 and sent to jail for striking a white woman. On yesterday, Dr. Hinton, a prominent physician, struck a colored girl. He was arrested and the case continued until today. The negroes demanded that the Doctor receive the same punishment as that inflicted upon the negro. A violent card, signed by prominent negroes, was published in the Index Appeal yesterday. The signers and editors were arrested for libel. The excitement became so intense that the Mayor ordered three companies of militia to hold themselves in readiness for any emergency. Great anxiety was felt over today's proceedings.

Nevada's Complaint Against the Methods of Alien Sheepraisers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] A petition has been filed in the General Land Office by citizens of White Pine county, Nev., asking the intervention of the land department to protect settlers against the unlawful appropriation of public lands by foreign sheepraisers. The petitioners allege that there are several companies of Englishmen, mostly aliens, having large flocks of sheep, which travel from water to water, destroying grass and contaminating the water used by settlers for domestic purposes. Acting Commissioner Stockslager has directed that an investigation of the matter be made by a special agent of the General Land Office.

Pitchfork vs. Pistol.

FRESNO, Aug. 31.—William Weekly, better known as Hank Hawns, was shot and seriously wounded by James White, about twenty miles west of here, last night. Both men have been working on a thresher. A xuarrel arose between them, when Weekly grabbed a pitchfork and White fired two shots at him, one of them taking effect in the back of the neck. White is in jail.

Stockton Wants Deep Water.

STOCKTON, Aug. 31.—The project of constructing a ship canal from Stockton to deep water has been revived. Recent improvements in dredging have reduced the cost per cubic yard to about one-fourth of what it was when the canal was planned. The earth removed, it is estimated, would reclaim enough tule land to cover the cost of the work.

THE RAILROADS.

How the Canadian Pacific Captured the Siamese Notables—Villard on Deck—The Central Pacific's New Mortgage.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] Railroad men here are much displeased at the action of the Canadian Pacific Railroad in regard to the Siamese embassy now on its way around the world, and declare that there is no chance for a road to run on business principles and cope successfully with it. The party was a bone of contention among the agents of the overland lines, and had intended to go via Denver to this coast and by the Pacific Mail line to China, but it was discovered that the Canadian Pacific agents via England had booked them over their line with their 160 pieces of baggage free of charge, including a free trip across the Pacific. It would have cost them fully $10,000 by the American lines.

CENTRAL PACIFIC'S NEW MORTGAGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The Central Pacific Railroad Company has filed a document in the Recorder's office which mortgages all the visible property of that company, and has been done, it is thought, for the purpose of raising money to complete the Oregon road. The property deeded in trust goes to secure the payment of interest and principal of 16,000 $1000 bonds, redeemable fifty years from October 1st, 1886, and drawing 6 per cent. interest per annum, payable semi-annually. The main fact disclosed is that $10,000,000 of bonds were authorized to be issued in January, 1885, to pay floating debts, the bonds to run for thirty years, and $5,000,000 were issued. In October, 1885, another $10,000,000 was authorized to be placed on the market, half of which was issued to redeem outstanding bonds of the previous issue. Then comes the present agreement to issue 16,000 bonds of $1000 each to mature fifty years hence. Frank S. Danty and W. E. Brown are trustees for all the property. Provision is made that the trustees may reserve lands for depot grounds, and from the income of the lands received and profitable privileges redeem and cancel outstanding bonds.

VILLARD ON DECK AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The statement is made by Henry Villard that an agreement has been entered into between the Oregon Transcontinental Company and a foreign syndicate headed by the Deutsche Bank of Berlin, in pursuance of which almost the entire floating debt of the Oregon Transcontinental Company will be paid off immediately, and $6,000,000 is already provided for this purpose.

MORE FREIGHT FACILITIES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The rush of Atlantic shipments by rail westward over the Southern Pacific has caused that company to increase its steamer service between New York and New Orleans. General Eastern Agent E. Hawley, in a letter to Texas and California shippers, states that from now on three steamers will leave New York every week, taking freight from New Orleans, Galveston and Texas points, St. Louis and other Mississippi River points, and points in Arizona, New Mexico, Mexico and California.

A sheriff's party of ten, from Yavapai, were at Payson on the 24th, for the purpose of making arrests. The shooting at Newton's ranch is given a different coloring from that first printed. It is now said that those outside of the house were the aggressors, and only given a Roland for their Oliver.

By this contract it appears that he was married in 1882.

He was comfortable during the forenoon, and took nourishment regularly. His physicians and attendants are now hopeful of his entire recovery.

LATER—THE GOVERNOR FAILING.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The latest advices from Gov. Bartlett's bedside are anything but reassuring. He seems to have failed rapidly during the past few hours.

ROBBERY AT THE MINT.

Last Tuesday a shabbily dressed stranger called at the Mint to see Superintendent Lawton, and the latter being out he waited in the reception room nearly an hour and a half before leaving. Today it was discovered that twenty-one of a set of fifty-two rare silver coins, one of the pieces being worth $1400, had been stolen. A party whose name is Ruhling, has been arrested and some of the coins were found on him. He was committed to jail.

A few years ago the Society of Pioneers left at the mint, for safe keeping, a glass-covered case containing a collection of fifty-two silver dollars. Many of these are of very old and rare dates. One of them is dated 1803, and it is this one that is said by numismatists to be worth $1400, as there are very few of that date now in existence. The coins were placed on exhibition along with other collections in the waiting-room at the mint, inside of the railing. It was found that the lid of the case, which had been fastened down with a screw, had been pried open, presumably with a knife, and twenty-one of the rare and valuable coins stolen. It must have taken the thief several minutes to accomplish his purpose, as each coin was firmly glued to the velvet lining of the case. Ruhling is said to be well connected. He claims to be an assayer, and to have worked at that business at Virginia City and elsewhere.

DRESBACH'S WHEAT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] Business in the Produce Exchange was fairly active to-day, and numerous sales were made of seller 1887. In the board today sales were confined to seller 1887 at $1.22½. At the close $1.22½ was asked and $1.22½ freely bid. Spot wheat was offered at $1.23½, and $1.20 bid, but no sales were recorded. The committee which was appointed yesterday to devise some means of disposing of Dresbach's security wheat made a proposition to the Call Board directors to take the entire quantity of 6000 tons at $1.20 per cental.

The directors of the Call Board this afternoon decided to sell at public auction tomorrow morning the 6000 tons of wheat held as security by the creditors of Dresbach and Rosenfeld. It is not thought, however, that the entire lot will be allowed to go unless a price which the directors consider proper be obtained. If the 6000 tons should be sold without reserve at any figure obtainable, there seems considerable reason to fear that a drop in prices would be the result. Whatever figures are obtained, the proceeds will fall far short of settling all the indebtedness of the insolvent dealers.

NEW CORPORATIONS.

Articles of incorporation have been filed with the County Clerk for the formation of the Consolidated Bituminous Rock Company for the purpose of buying and selling bituminous asphaltic land in California. The capital stock is $500,000, divided into 500 shares of $100 each.

The Alva Udell Company has been incorporated for the purpose of dealing in real estate. The capital stock is $700,000, at a par value of $100 a share.

The American Projectile Company has been formed with a view to handling the nitro-glycerine gun of S. D. Smotianoff. The capital stock is $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares values at $10 apiece.

A BOY'S STRANGE MISHAP.

A sliver two inches long was taken from the abdomen of Joseph King, an 8-year-old boy at the Receiving Hospital this afternoon. He got it in sliding down a pole in a schoolyard. So painful was the extraction that he had to be placed under the influence of chloroform. It is feared that the sliver penetrated the abnominal cavity, in which case death will ensue.

STANFORD TESTIFIES.

Today Senator Stanford commenced giving evidence in his own behalf in the form of a deposition before A. A. Cohen, to be forwarded to the Pacific Railway Commission. Mr. Cohen declines to let press representatives hear Stanford's testimony, saying that he will give the substance of the deposition for publication after it is completed.

A LAWYER SHOT.

Annual Session of the California Conference at Pacific Grove.

The chapel was filled at the opening session today. W. S. Urmy was elected Secretary, William Angwin Statistical Secretary, and E. R. Dille Treasurer. Communications from the W.C.T.U., asking the ministers to participate more actively in the movement for social purity, were read and referred to the Temperance Committee. Rev. Wesley Dennett, Presiding Elder of the San Francisco district, reported a large increase in the value of church property, especially in San Francisco.

THE TRAIN-ROBBERS.

No Evidence Against the Arrested Men—Taylor Discharged.

TUCSON (Ariz.), Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] C. F. Taylor, who was arrested in Los Angeles ostensibly on a charge of bigamy but in reality as one of the Papago train-robbers, had an examination before United States Marshal Meade and was discharged, he being able to prove that he was in Tucson at the hour of the robbery. It seems also that there is not enough evidence to hold any of the parties arrested at Steins Pass. A man named Christenson found a pocket book in the cave where the robbers had their rendezvous containing forty gold rings, which were in a package taken from Wells-Fargo's express on the night of the last robbery.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.]—A great sensation was created to-day by a leading article in the Monitor Republicano wherein an astounding revelation of the conduct of the Emperor Maximilian on the surrender of the City of Queretaro is given to the public. For weeks past there has been an acrimonious controversy in the newspapers regarding the asserted treachery of the Imperial general, Lopez, in surrendering the convent of La Cruz, the key to Queretaro during the siege. The writer declares that Gen. Escobedo, commander of the republican forces, made a report on the matter to the government two months ago, vindicating Gen. Lopez. The published statement is furnished him by one of Gen. Escobedo's officers, to whom the report to the government was read.

On the first page of the report is a photographic letter purporting to have been written by Emperor Maximilian to Miguel Lopez. The letter translated reads as follows:

Col. Lopez: We recommend you to observe profound secrecy regarding the commission to Gen. Escobedo, which we entrusted to you, for if it is divulged our honor will be stained. Yours affectionately,

MAXIMILIAN.

May 16, 1867.

He then describes the situation of the two armies during the final days of the siege. The situation of the besieged was desperate. They were running short of provisions and ammunition and becoming demoralized. Gen. Escobedo was notified that one of Maximilian's officers desired to interview him, Gen. Escobedo instantly granted the desired interview and Col. Miguel Lopez, one of Maximilian's favorite officers, was introduced to him. Lopez said that he was commissioned by Maximilian to offer to deliver the garrison to Escobedo on condition that the latter should allow Maximilian and his officers to depart unmolested; that Maximilian has already signed his abdication, and would never again meddle with the affairs of Mexico.

Gen. Escobedo replied that he could make no such terms. Lopez then declared that he was authorized to make such terms with Escobedo as he could, and in the name of the chief informed Escobedo that the Republican army might occupy the convent of La Cruz at 3 o'clock on the following morning without encountering resistance, and that Maximilian in person would then surrender himself unconditionally.

The convent was accordingly seized without resistance, but Maximilian did not comply with the terms of surrender. Queretaro was then occupied and the Imperialist leaders were made prisoners.

GENERAL FOREIGN BUDGET.

Noted Murderer Executed—Horrible Scenes on the Scaffold.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—[By Cable and the Associated Press.] Pranzini, the murderer of Mme. Regnault, her maid and her maid's child, was guillotined at 5 o'clock this morning. He made no confession. Vast crowds waited about the place of execution during the whole night, and kept up a constant howling and yelling. When the chaplain, who was to officiate at the execution arrived, at 4:30, the mass of people was so great that he was almost prevented from reaching the gate of the prison. Pranzini marched from his cell to the scaffold with a firm step and defiant air. When the executioners seized him, he resisted and fought desperately, and demanded that they let him alone. The executioners overpowered him and threw him upon the machine, and in an instant had him secured and bound. Immediately the terrible knife was started. It descended with horrible slowness at first, but then quickened, and the head of the murderer rolled into the basket. The crowd became very disorderly during the progress of the execution.

GLADSTONIANS ENCOURAGED.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—In the parliamentary election to fill the vacancy in Ramsey, or the north district of Huntington, caused by the acceptance by William Henry Fellows (Conservative) of an office under the crown, he was reelected over Saunders (Gladstonian) by a vote of 2700 to 2414. In the last election Fellows was unopposed. As the Liberals this time came within 287 votes of capturing the district, they regard the result as additional proof of the change of English public opinion in regard to Gladstone's Irish policy.

AFFAIRS AT PANAMA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The officers of the steamer Granada report that smallpox and yellow fever are raging at Panama at the present time. They also report that very little progress is being made on De Lesseps' canal. Of the 500 Chinese who were contracted for in China to work on the canal, and were recently carried there by the steamer Colima, at least 250 have deserted, and the rest are very dissatisfied.

THE O'GRADY EVICTIONS.

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—The work of evicting tenants in arrears on the O'Grady estates was concluded today. A bed-ridden woman, who refused to be installed as care-taker, was removed, with her bed, out doors.

William O'Brien denounced O'Grady as a highway robber, and said that the Government instead of restraining the ruffian lent him soldiers and police to protect his cowardly carcass.

A HURRICANE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—By the steamer Granada from Panama, it is learned that on August 6th, Santiago, Chili, was visited by a hurricane. Many houses were unroofed and hundreds of trees were uprooted. It was the heaviest gale which has occurred since 1857. Shipping in Valparaiso harbor suffered much damage.

FATHER AND SON NOT TO MEET.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Prince Napoleon and Prince Victor have written to ex-Empress Eugenie, asking to be excused from attending the transfer of the remains of Napoleon III and the Prince Imperial from Chiselhurst to Farnborough, on the ground that it would be impolite for father and son to meet each other.

BULGARIA'S NEW MINISTRY.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—A Bulgarian cabinet has been formed as follows: M. Stambloff, Premier and Minister of the Interior; M. Natchevics, Minister of Foreign Affairs; M. Sterioff, Minister of Justice; M. Mutkuroff, Minister of War; S. Ziokoff, Minister of Education; M. Nikoforoff, Minister of Finance.

FAILURE OF MEDIATION.

ROME, Aug. 31.—It is reported that English mediation in Abyssinia has failed. The Popolo Romano says: "September must not be allowed to pass without effecting a settlement of the difficulty, if not by mediation then by force of arms." It is stated that an expedition to Abyssinia is being prepared.

THE CUBAN AGITATION.

MADRID, Aug. 31.—If the Cuban agitation increases Premier Sagasta will summon the Cortes to meet in October to consider what can be done to pacify the Cubans.

The Apache Prisoners.

TUCSON (Ariz.), Aug. 31.—San Carlos advices say that four of the Apache prisoners have been shackled and handcuffed. The Indian guards are all taken off, and a double guard of soldiers has been put on, which indicates that severe measures are to be adopted, probably hanging. These Indians are the ones who shot Chief of Scouts Sieber.

Ascended Mt. St. Helen's.

PORTLAND (Or.), Aug. 31.—W. B. Gilbert, G. L. Lindsley and A. A. Lindsley, sons of Dr. Lindsley, and Misses V. Goodwin and B. Tisdale, of this city, have returned from a trip to Mt. St. Helen's, which they ascended on the 23d inst. This is the second time ladies have reached the summit.

Forger Markham's Case.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—An English officer arrived here today from Hong Kong to take charge of the extradited forger, Markham, who has been confined in the Cook-county jail since July 15th, awaiting the action of the Secretary of State.

A Siamese Dignitary.

TACOMA (Wash.), Aug. 31.—Marquis de Moutri, Siamese Minister to England, accompanied by F. Verney and Loftus of London, England, arrived here last night from Victoria, and left at noon today for Portland, Or.

Iowa Greenbackers.

DES MOINES (Iowa), Aug. 31.—The Greenback State Convention met this afternoon and a temporary organization was effected. There are about 100 delegates present, only a portion of the State being represented.

The Sword Presentation Postponed.

TUCSON (Ariz.), Aug. 31.—The Gen. Miles sword presentation ceremony is postponed owing to the accident to Gen. Miles yesterday.

Patents Granted.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Patents have been granted to William H. Thomas, of Los Angeles, and F. B. Knapp, of San Jacinto.

He Would Not Give Himself Away.

[Detroit Free Press.]

There was a family on the train between Birmingham and Annison who had come out of the woods of Mississippi and were on their way to some place in Georgia. It was their first ride on the cars, but while the wife and children were full of natural curiosity the husband didn't propose to give his ignorance away. When the wife asked him what kept the coaches on the track he looked at her with pity in his eyes and answered:

"Maria, don't you know nothin' 'tall! They put tar on 'em to make 'em stick!"

She was satisfied until switched in on a side-track to let a passenger train go by, and then she asked:

"Gordon, what do they do this for?"

"'Nother train going by, Maria."

"And do we have to get off the track?"

"Yes. It's the new way. They used to have one train scramble over the other, but it scart the passengers so that they adopted another plan."

She looked up at the ceiling and then out on the extra track and replied:

"You orter buy some peanuts of the boy, Gordon, and show the railroad that we appreciate this extra expense they have gone to. They must have feelings as well as us."

Strange Harplike Music at a Funeral.

[Savannah News.]

A most remarkable story that is well authenticated comes from Banks county, concerning the burial of the late Dr. A. D. Chinault. He died on June 18th of fever and was buried June 20th at Winn's burying ground, near Lula. After the grave had been prepared, the corpse carried to it and all the funeral rites performed, the coffin was lowered in the vault, the grave was just begun to be filled, a strange noise was heard that sounded like music from a harp. The crowd was considerably agitated, and a general commotion followed. No one knew what or where it was. To some it appeared to be in the grave, and to others in the trees. There is no doubt about there being a strange noise being heard, one that will, in all probability, never be explained this side of eternity. Rev. G. H. Cartledge, who was conducting the funeral rites, says he did not hear the noise, as he is a little deaf, but noticed the congregation was excited and that there was something unusual operating upon the audience.

She Found a Man at Last.

[Omaha World.]

Burglar: I tell you it's awful the way things are in New England. Twenty or thirty women to every man. I had a narrow escape once. I noticed a lot of the finest diamonds you ever saw on a Boston girl just going out of the house to a lecture or something, and I watched my chance and got in and hid under her bed. You see; I was thinkin' she would be so interested in the lecture she went to, that she wouldn't think to look around for burglars, you know.

"Yes."

"But when she came in the first thing she did was to look under the bed, and there she saw me."

"Did she scream or faint?"

"She just grabbed me with both hands and held on like grim death."

"Eh! How did you get away?"

"I explained to her that I was already married and she let me go."

The Size of It.

Henry George's egotism is always equal to the occasion. He is about to come before the public again as the leading candidate of a fragmentary organization of theorists, and immediately he rises with the momentous occasion and solemnly declares his belief that "we are about to enter upon the greatest movement in American history." When Henry counts the votes next November he will be able to discover the size of his little joke.

CONSUL BRIGHAM.

Cutting's Former Champion in Trouble.

Judge Zubia of Paso del Norte Gives Him a Blow.

The Affair Caused by a Dispute Over Some Litigation.

Two Versions of the Matter—Brigham Says Zubia Struck Without Provocation—The Judge Declares That the Consul Used Most Insulting Language.

By Telegraph to The Times.

EL PASO (Tex.), Aug. 31.—[By the Associated Press.] There is considerable excitement here over an attack of the Mexican, Judge Zubia, on United States Consul Brigham in Paso del Norte last night. Col. Cowart, of the Mescalero Agency, Mexico, had been in Paso del Norte for several days, endeavoring to recover some horses which had been stolen from the agency, and had at last succeeded in obtaining the promise of Judge Zubia to try the case. Yesterday afternoon Cowart, with Consul Brigham, were at court at the appointed hour, but Zubia neither appeared nor sent word as to the reason for his absence.

Consul Brigham, accompanied by Cowart, then repaired to the Judge's house and held a conversation with him, in which both strenuously deny that there was any offense given or intended. On their leaving, however, Zubia followed them some yards from the house and finally ran up and struck Consul Brigham, who is a confirmed invalid, on the back of the head from behind. Consul Brigham immediately turned and pursued Zubia into the house, when the door was shut and bolted in his face. Zubia has acted very insolently ever since the Cutting affair which was tried in his court.

Consul Brigham and Col. Cowart have each made a report of the affair to Assistant Secretary of State Porter, at Washington. Consul Brigham has expressed the opinion that the subject is one for international investigation.

JUDGE ZUBIA'S STORY.

Judge Zubia, in an interview tonight regarding his assault upon Consul Brigham, said: "Brigham and Cowart had waited at the courtroom from 2 till 5 p.m. I did not keep my engagement with them because I had been attending the funeral of my child, and was detained at home by my sick wife. My interpreter says that the Consul used language in speaking to me that a Mexican would call insulting, and that he did not interpret more than half of it to me. Therefore, I ordered Cowart and Consul Brigham from my residence. On the street the Consul continued to use violent language, and I, without any weapon, ran down to him and struck him on the head with my hand."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

IT BELIEVES PREVENTION EASIER THAN CURE.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] When the child is fairly out of the nursery and old enough to begin to make ventures for himself, his character is practically established. We say, "He has turned out well," or, "He has turned out badly," when, in truth, it was the beginning that determined in a great measure his after life. The great Roman Catholic Church has always recognized this fact. Its children are jealously guarded and persistently trained. Their earliest and strongest impressions are all interwoven with the influence and precepts of thier religion, and the result is a life-long devotion, of which Protestant christians are only just beginning to learn the secret.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union regards the training of the children as its chief corner-stone. It reaches out in every direction to save as many as possible from the ranks of the already vicious and degraded, but, recognizing the truth of the old adage, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," it labors in every possible way—by kindergartens and Bands of Hope, and by special instruction in both Sunday and day schools—to train up a generation of intelligent, temperance men and women. Who can doubt the boundless influence of such teaching upon young and susceptible minds?

It is a notorious fact that temperance laws, however stringent, are of very little use unless the sentiment of the community is fully in accord with them. This, too, the Union realizes and acts upon. While unremitting in its efforts to secure temperance legislation, it places its great reliance, under God, upon the training of the children and the education of public sentiment.

The organization has taken a strong foothold in Southern California, and is determined not only to stand its ground, but to be found constantly aggressive toward the enemy. Once established in suitable quarters, the Union will have largely-increased resources and facilities for prosecuting its different branches of work. It needs especial help and encouragement from all its friends, just now.

Mrs. L. D. More, State President, who has the subscription list in charge, reports favorable progress, and still a considerable sum is needed to complete the enterprise.

The Exempts.

The Exempt Firemen met at the City Hall last night and elected the following committee to make arrangements for transportation, uniforms, etc., for the visit of the Exempts to the grand convention at San Francisco. The Los Angeles Exempts will leave here about September 13th, join the New York Veteran Firemen at Sacramento, and thence proceed to San Francisco. The committee consists of Gen. John R. Brierly, Councilman J. Kuhrts, Walter S. Moore, John Bloeser, John C. McMenomy, George H. Pike and Ed Smith.

The Operator Changed His Mind.

[Des Moines Leader.]

A traveling newspaper man who occasionally visits Des Moines relates that he once turned up suddenly at a little station in Illinois with some matter to be telegraphed to his paper. It was 5 o'clock p.m., and he marched in to tell the operator that at 6 o'clock he would have his matter ready. This was both as a courtesy and a precaution. The operator looked up with a sneer and remarked that as he had an engagement with his girl that evening he could not send the message. The newspaper man picked up a blank and wrote:

"——, Ill., ——.

"F. H. Tubbs, Supt. Western Union, Chicago.

"The operator says he will be unable to forward my message tonight to the ——, as he has an engagement with his girl. ——."

He laid a silver dollar on the message and pushed it in to the operator. The latter read it. His jaw fell. He returned the dollar. He was at the office at 6 o'clock.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and yet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some oreign subs tance, as, for instance, a hair, obtructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharnyx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call at the office for consultation and examination, but if impossible to do so can write for a copy of my Medical Treatise, containing a list of questions. Address,

NEWS NOTES FROM THE FLOURISHING LITTLE CITY.

SAN GABRIEL, Aug. 30.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Two Mexicans were arrested here day before yesterday for fighting in the streets. They were put in the lock-up to cool off. About sundown they wrenched the door from its hinges and made a break for liberty, but were quickly corraled by Constable Fuller. Yesterday they were brought before Justice Bishop, who fined one $25 and the other $10.

G. Tapio, who stole a saddle from parties in San Fernando and was caught in Ventura county, was yesterday given ninety days in Los Angeles County Jail by Justice Bishop.

The relatives of John O'Conner, the track-walker of section 35, who was killed by a train at this place a week ago, yesterday erected a headstone to his memory at the Mission San Gabriel graveyard, where he was buried.

S. W. Burke and family of Norwalk have been visiting relatives at this place for the past few days. Mr. Burke returned home on Sunday evening, but his family remain for a few days longer.

J. R. Dobbins and family are sojourning at Santa Monica, enjoying life by the ocean wave.

Mr. and Mrs. J. DeBarth Shorb have gone North to place their children, J. DeB. S., Jr., and Miss Edith, at school. "Bartie" will attend the Jesuit College at Santa Clara, while Miss Edith will sojourn with the sisters of Notre Dame at San José. They will be very much missed by their friends here, young and old, as they are general favorites wherever known.

The new hotels here are progressing as rapidly as could be expected.

Mr. G. Heslop has moved his real estate office from Los Angeles to San Gabriel. He says that 17,965 new real estate offices were opened in Los Angeles last week, and that he thought he had better move out here before competition became too great in the city.

Three gentlemen from San José were here last week looking for cheap land suitable for citrus culture. They think the San Gabriel Valley lays it across the n.c.b. They are very much pleased with this section, as they ought to be.

New towns and corner lots may be very good things, but, as the old saying has it, there may be "too much of a good thing." It is a pity to see so many fine vineyards and orchards turned over to corner lots and neglect. More ten and twenty-acre farms, and less town lots would be greatly to our advantage. We fully endorse what THE TIMES has to say on this subject. We cannot afford to neglect our vineyards and orchards.

Z. N. Northrip, a recent arrival from Southwest Missouri, has opened a new blacksmith shop in New San Gabriel.

JUSTICE TANEY.

Mrs. H. M. Reeder was tried for cruelty to children, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty.

Also, nearly 100 lots in the Hafen tract, on Central avenue. This beautiful tract was put on the market last week. It is near the intersection of Pico and Wolfskill street (now Central avenue). Remember, these lots are not out of the world, but near the center of the city. EIGHTY FEET AVENUES. FIVE-FOOT CEMENT WALKS. Lots 40x140 feet; alley to every lot, and not a key lot in the tract. Lots $750 to $1200; easy terms. At these prices the lots are CHEAPER THAN THE ACREAGE CAN BE BOUGHT FOR ADJOINING. Don't hang back on these chances. Inside property from first hands is almost gone. Strangers, especially, should call and see this tract.

I am headquarters for Michigan and Wisconsin, and would like a call from my lumbermen friends.

ACREAGE.

12 acres on Washington street, with $5000 improvement; price, $30,000.

12 acres in Orange, one and one-half miles from the center of town; all in oranges, lemons, etc.; price, $6000.

41 acres 1½ miles from Artesia.

23 acres two miles south of Agricultural Park, on the San Pedro road and on proposed dummy line to Rosecrans; price, $925 per acre.

12 acres of inside city property, covered with orange trees; this is a bargain. My option expires Monday, and it cannot be had for 20 per cent. advance after that time.

RANCHES.

201 acres near San Jose; fine, level tract of foothill land; small fruit orchard; house and barn; this property will soon double in price, as it is in Greenfield neighborhood; price, $100 per acre.

200-acre ranch near Gilroy, on main gravel road and on railroad; this is a bargain if taken soon, if not you lose it; price, $100 per acre.

Here is the rare bargain of the season—1200 acres near Hollister; on good gravel road; all fine fruit and alfalfa land and A 1, with seven flowing wells, the water-right of which is a fortune, for Santa Clara valley must have it. These wells throw a six-inch stream thirteen feet above ground, and is the finest water in California. I invite inspection of this tract by parties who have money and judgment. I have personally inspected these ranches, and can assure you I have selected them for their merit.

If you have any acreage property that is a good buy, bring it in. My Kansas City men will put the knife into it quick. I want real, live BARGAINS to offer my customers.

Sterling exchange dull at 4.85¼ for 60-day bills; 4.88¾ for demand.

Wall street was treated to some general surprises today, and the temper of the market underwent a sudden change for the better. When it was officially announced that the Baltimore and Ohio Express had been sold to the United States Express Company, the latter company's stock jumped 7¼ per cent. from yesterday's prices, and the street jumped to the conclusion that other Baltimore and Ohio properties were also disposed of, thus settling the great deal, and a great rush to cover followed and prices shot up rapidly. The announcement followed that the Oregon Transcontinental, by disposing of some of its treasury securities, had placed itself upon a firm basis. Oregon Navigation responded with a jump of 5 per cent. The entire list, with the exception of Manhattan, closed at nearly the best figures of the day. Manhattan is down 1¾. The principal advances are Oregon Navigation 5¼, Northern Pacific preferred 2¾, Jersey Central 2½, Western Union 2¾, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Oregon Transcontinental and Erie preferred 2¾, Lake Erie and Western preferred, Louisville and Nashville and Union Pacific 2½, and Lake Shore 2.

A row of stately eucalyptus twelve years old, surround the tract. One house on the tract cost $3000. A CHOICE INVESTMENT!

THE CELEBRATED BARTON RANCH

OF 1150 ACRES, AT OLD SAN BERNARDINO, CONCEDED BY ALL TO BE THE CREAM OF THE ORANGE GROWING SECTION IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, HAS BEEN PURCHASED BY A SYNDICATE OF WELL-KNOWN BUSINESS MEN AND CAPITALISTS. THEY HAVE INCORPORATED, WITH A CAPITAL STOCK OF $500,000, THE

"Barton Land and Water Company."

THE LOCATION OF THIS MAGNIFICENT PROPERTY CANNOT BE EXCELLED. REDLANDS, THE town of phenomenal growth, joins it on the south; beautiful Lugonia on the east; Gladesta on the north, and San Bernardino—which is fast becoming a prominent railroad center—lies six miles west. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad is now building a line through this ranch, to be completed October 1st. The Southern Pacific Railroad are also locating their line two and one-half miles through the same, and a Dummy Road will be built from San Bernardino as soon as the company can determine and locate the route. At a point where these three roads converge will be located the TOWN OF BARTON.

THE WATER SUPPLY of this property cannot be excelled in all California. It has three separate water rights, either one of which is ample for all its requirements.

THE CLIMATIC ADVANTAGES of this valley are unsurpassed, attracting people with weak lungs and throat trouble from all parts of the country. It has an altitude of 1600 feet, a dry atmosphere, and is free from harsh winds.

One-half the stock of the company has been taken by the incorporators, and a limited portion of the remainder will be sold on the following liberal terms: Fifteen per cent. cash and 25 per cent. on or before September 1st, when the stock certificates will be issued. The character of the incorporators is a guarantee that this is a safe and desirable investment.

THE SALE OF STOCK WILL BEGIN ON SATURDAY, AUGUST 13TH, AT THE OFFICE OF

CONVICTED.

THE SALVATION ARMY WOMAN, MRS. REEDER,

Found Guilty of Cruelty to Her Babes—Offered Employment, She Refused to Work, Preferring to Howl With the Army.

Mrs. H. M. Reeder was tried before Justice Taney and a jury yesterday for cruelty to her children. The defendant and her four children—one a babe of eight months—were in court.

M. V. Wright, of the Humane Society, testified that his attention was first called to this case last Saturday. When he called at the house he found three children in bed, with a lighted candle near the head of the bed. On searching the house he found a small quantity of rice and some pieces of bread. The bed-clothes and those worn by the children were very dirty.

Officer Dunn testified that he first knew of the case several days ago. He had seen Mrs. Reeder come home as late as 11 o'clock at night attended by one of the soldiers from the ranks of the Salvation Army.

Phillip Traut, a special officer, testified that he had seen members of the "army" emerging from the house of the defendant at 7 o'clock in the morning. He knew she could have procured work had she so desired. She had refused work offered her for her boy. There was little or no furniture in the house. There were two ragged quilts but no sheets, and an old bedstead. For six weeks witness had noticed defendant coming home as late as 12 o'clock.

W. R. Williams testified that he was a neighbor of Mrs. Reeder. He has seen the mother going out nights and locking the children out. They had no food and were always ragged. He had given them what he could afford. Had offered her work, but she refused, stating she had "a slick job up town." Never knew her to be sick.

Mrs. Williams' testimony was corroborative of that testified to by Mr. Williams. Witness had offered her washing to do at $1.50 per day, but defendant refused to work. She never knew Mrs. Reeder to work. She was not a sickly woman. She had often given the children food. They were not clothed at all. They were in the habit of lying out in the sand at night.

Mrs. W. R. Williamson testified that she had known Mrs. Reeder since the baby was born. She did one day's work. She had never complained of inability to work.

Fred Lamborn testified to furnishing groceries on an order from the county.

O. S. Sparks, on behalf of the defense, testified that she had known the defendant since she was born, in San Bernardino. Knew her to be always a working woman. Witness thought the cause of her condition to be her lack of sufficient intelligence to live in any other way.

Mrs. H. M. Reeder, the defendant, testified that she was a divorced woman. Her children was 8 months old. She provided for her children when she could. She was not able to do hard work on account of female ailments. She only left her child two nights. She went out then to get money to pay house rent. She has been drawing money since last February from the county. She only marched once on the streets with the "Salvationists."

She denied locking her children out in the street, because she thought too much of them. Said she: "I wasn't able last week to go to work. I get $1.50 for my work, and that is not enough to support my family with. When I was seen coming in late I was with an acquaintance of mine. I do not lock my children out; I think too much of them for that."

Witness felt badly because Mr. Wright had drown two-bits' worth of beef out to the dog, which Mr. Wright stated was in a highly decomposed condition.

After listening to the defendant's statement, the jury retired and returned in a few minutes with a verdict of guilty as charged.

Thomas E. Reeder was granted a divorce from his wife July 30th, 1883, in Kern County. He will try to get the custody of the four older children. The others do not belong to him. Reeder says he can give them good homes. He has often sent food and clothes to the mother, but she has not given them to the children.

Neither whiskey, ginger, blackberry brandy, or any thing else begins to equal Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy for bowel complaint. It is the only medicine that always cures bloody flux, cholera morbus, dysentery and diarrhœa, and it never ails. It costs 25 cents and is worth $25 when needed. Mr. A. Finley of Bainbridge, Putnum county, Ind., writes that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy cured him of a severe attack of diarrhœa. The first dose quieted and eased the pain and the second dose cured him completely; he also says that he cured a bad case of bloody flux with the same bottle. Sold by C. H. Hance.

SWORDSMEN OF INDIA.

Their Great Skill in Using Their Wonderful Weapons.

In a dissertation on swords a writer in the English Mechanic says:

The high-class damascened and exquisitely tempered blades, the curved cimeters of extra hard steel, and the keen weapons of highly-finished durability came to India with those mighty conquerors of the East, the Mohammedans, whose descendants under the victorious and peace-promoting British rule can no longer follow the craft, disarming being the prevailing regime. The comparatively few sword blades of sterling quality nowadays are only to be found in the palaces of royal Princes, most of them heirlooms, in their armories. Before the great mutiny every native, even menial servants, carried a sword; the peasant at his plow wore the weapon of defense; so did the harmless wanderer in search of employ, and the black soldier on short leave. It was a national appendage, due to the unsettled state of popular feelings and national inclinations. The excited Mossem printed and shouted the great text of the false prophet: "The sword is the key of heaven and hell," while the quiet Hindoo frequented midnight meetings and brought his tegh ar or village saber to a razor edge. The quiet dweller in England will scarcely believe the prodigies performed in sword-cutting by these coarse, ill-looking bits of carved metal, costing no more than two shillings. The Englishman can excel in everything if he chooses to master the object. Not less than half a dozen, perhaps even a dozen, have attained such swordsmanship with the Oriental weapon as to be acknowledged champions, the title of "master of the sword" (Sahib tulwar) being bestowed on them by universal consent.

I had shot numerous wild beasts when I was told by an expert that my hunting education was very deficient, as I could not handle a cimeter to stop my game. I was told to exercise continually on a pillow of soft clay, and thus acquire the drawing cut at the proper part of the blade; then on a pillow loosely stuffed with cotton; then on a newly-killed wildcat or jackal, kneaded previous to the practice by the feet of a heavy man till the carcass becomes a loose, soft mass; then on a great pond carp, a fish clad with heavy, horny scales, like elastic mail, considered an A 1 feat to test man and sword. My first trial at this experiment resulted in a triple fracture of a good blade, sundry scales flying in the air, uncut, only dislodged; then the artistic tour de force at paper cones placed on a table, and muslin thrown up to a height—all manner of strange and difficult tasks which, being only ornamental, I eventually forsook for the useful decapitation of fierce quadrupeds, beginning with a wounded wild hog of full growth, and, on essaying the sloping stroke behind the ear, sweeping off the head nearly, that important part dropping between the fore feet. Not long before I had seen a bold young Ghoorka prineeling dismount from his elephant, leaving it standing to await his return, and follow on foot alone an immense boar he had wounded with his rifle. On nearing the powerful brute it champed its foamy tusks to charge. He drew his kookree, or nepaulse sword, and as it sprang at him the blade was hurried across piggy's back, all but severing him in two parts.

Among some military trophies I once saw a very rude, rusty tegmar—locally worth a shilling—which had cleanly decapitated a raw recruit, severing coat-collar, brass buckle and necklet of hard enamel leads. The nimble village rebel had sprung on the sepoy from ambush while trimming his flint-lock after a miss-fire. This and all the low-priced teghars and tulwars are of a very soft metal, capable of being bent and straightened across the blade, while the arch or cutting portion, with razor edge, offers immense resistance in the hands of an expert, who, behind his shield, can watch and measure his opportunity; only the straight thrust of British bayonets or dragoon blades can reach them.

The metal and finish of cutting arms improve when we enter North India. Hard steel of fine temper and high workmanship used to be common until two Sikh wars and the great mutiny abolished the demand for such deadly wares. The skillful Mohammedan craftsman had to emigrate for a livelihood, or too often dwindled into a blacksmith of harmless occupation. I remember in the good old times of the East India Company, itinerant sword peddlers, Persians and Afghans of great stature and big turbans.

"Do you want swords?"

"Yes; but where are they?"

"Here," and the vender's hands were lifted to his head cloth, where they groped awhile; out sprang three or four shining steel snakes, elastic blades, unhandled a la mode. £20 to £50 each in value, sometime more. Then the dealer put them through various severe tests to satisfy the customer, packing them away again in their hiding place should there be no sale, and going on the road. But there were many shapes and sizes and sorts of cimeters of great price, harder and less flexible, both plain and damascened. The black steel of Khorassan, very rare in the market, was reputed to have cut off the neck of an anvil—an eastern anvil, of course; the Persian and Central Asian specimens, elegantly watered in circular veins, some so light that a girl could use them, others so heavy that height and length of arms with width of chest, were needful gifts of nature to utilize them—men like "Rob Roy" or "Mahmud Ghuzni," whose hands hung below their knees. The latter notable carried an awful steel mace in preference to a sword, and smashed idols and idolaters with his own arms on all occasions.

The Highest Authority.

William Hammond Hall, the State Engineer, who has had years of experience in land and water in California, after a full examination of the Rancho Ex-Mission of San Fernando, reports to the owners of the property, the Porter Land and Water Company, as follows: "You have 10,000 to 11,000 acres, and perhaps more of really first-rate valley lands for cultivation, with soils not to be surpassed for fertility and desirability by those of any section lying very favorably for irrigation, and in a neighborhood whose climate is well-adapted to the best class of agricultural, horticultural and vineyard productions usual in this country." Mr. Hall has been employed by the company to devise a complete plan for the irrigation of the tract with the waters flowing from San Fernando, Sycamore and Pacoima creeks, and from the immense cienegas located upon the ranch, and the public may expect the finest water system in California upon this property. Office, room No. 9, Los Angeles National Bank building, corner First and Spring streets. A man always at San Fernando, with conveyances, to show the property.

STANLEY AS A TRAVELER.

What the Present Expedition Shows as to His Ability.

[New York Sun.]

The qualities that have made Henry M. Stanley so successful as an African traveler have been very conspicuous in his latest undertaking, which is perhaps the most difficult enterprise he has conducted. He has accomplished the feat of leading 750 men, most of them heavily laden with ammunition and their stores intended for Emin Pasha, through 350 miles of famine-stricken country. He required five steamers to carry his expedition to the Aruwimi, but he found only three steamboats available, and with these inadequate resources he managed, by taking a lot of barges in tow to transport nearly four-fifths of his party 800 miles up the river, arriving at the Aruwimi a day or two before he was expected to reach that point. The sufferings of his expedition may be inferred from the fact that the collapse of a number of his men, who were unable to proceed, was due solely to weakness resulting from their scanty rations. When hunger drove his hundreds of carriers to the verge of revolt, between Stanley Pool and Boldobo, Stanley put the rebellious ringleaders in irons, and his prompt severity restored discipline and saved his expedition from the ruin that threatened it

Stanley has not been very popular with most of the men he has introduced on the Congo. With rare exceptions he has not taken them into his confidence or mingled with them on terms of personal intimacy. One of them, who served for three years under him in important positions, wrote that he rarely consulted his subordinates, never confided his plans to them, and that he had lived for year with Stanley and still felt that he did not know the man. "If Mr. Stanley told me," said Lieut. Braconnier, "to pack my baggage and be ready to start in an hour, I would not dream of asking him where we were going. He would simply tell me my own duties required all my attention." These very men, who have not admired Stanley in his personal relations with his subordinates, have had great confidence in his good judgment and ability as a leader, and some of them expressed their admiration of his handling of the expedition now in his charge.

During the sea voyage to the Congo the Zanzibar porters got into trouble with the sixty Soudanese, whom they outnumbered ten to one. There was a terrible row, and the overpowering Zanzibari mob, with clubs and firewood, were driving the Soudanese down into a stifling place between decks, when Stanley appeared on the scene with his stick, belabored all the frantic porters within reach, drove them back and quieted the tumult. One secret of his success is the mastery Stanley has always possessed over the hundreds of ignorant natives who have helped him in his enterprises. More than one African expedition, like Lieut. Giraud's, has been ruined because its commander lacked the quality of leadership, and subordinate attachés got the upper hand. On this occasion Stanley assigned the poor Soudanese to one part of the vessel, within which he forbade the Zanzibaris to intrude, and thereafter there was perfect peace among the different elements of the party.

Before the big expedition debarked at the Lower Congo to begin its land march, the party had been divided into companies of about seventy men, each of which was put in charge of one of Stanley's European assistants. Each captain had his distinctive flag and received every morning the orders for the day. The chiefs of several of the Congo stations have expressed their admiration of the perfect order and system with which every movement of the party was conducted. Officers at Leopoldville have said that when a steamer is about to leave that port one would think that a huge Atlantic liner was taking her departure. Stanley's command, however, marched in detachments to the waiting fleet, took the positions assigned them in the most perfect order, and were on their way up the rives before half of Leopoldville knew they had broken camp. "The departure of the steamers," writes a member of the Sanford expedition, "was quite a sight. Everything went like the smooth exactitude of a machine, and not a hitch of any kind occurred."

The surprise to which Stanley treated Leopoldville upon his arrival at that point was quite characteristic of the man. The sleepy settlement had hardly waked up one day when it was astonished to find that some distance below the station a score of tents had been reared and hundreds of men were at work clearing a space for their camp. Stanley had arrived and had his camp half built before anybody in Leopoldville knew that he was within miles of the river. The characteristic promptness, with which he cuts the Gordian knot that he can not untie was illustrated by the alacrity with which he dispatched a force of his soldiers and seized the steamer Henry Reed before the missionaries had formerly agreed to let him have the services of the vessel. A few hours after he reached Stanley Pool he had four parties of hunters on the waters of the broad expanse shooting hippopotami, and the meat these hunters secured was all that saved the expedition from distress.

It is but a remarkable man could do a work that Henry M. Stanley has done in the dark continent, and all the reports that have come down from the Congo his qualities as a leader of expeditions in Africa have shown one more brilliantly than in the enterprise which he is now leading into an unknown region to the relief of Emin Pasha.

The Cheapest Lands in Pasadena.

The reservoir, to cost about $10,000, on the Raymond Improvement Company tract, in front of the Raymond Hotel, is being constructed, and it is having the effect of creating a boom in the lands surrounding that hotel. The Raymond Improvement Company has its first subdivision ready, and they offer the cheapest lots in Pasadena for sale. The lots are selling very fast. Smith & Jacobs, who are the shrewdest speculators in Pasadena, purchased 115 lots in this tract at one time last week. They propose to build houses and mark up the lots to about double the company's present prices, and purchasers may look for a general marking up in a short time. Fair Oaks avenue is to be widened to an 80-foot street, and Smith & Jacobs intend to build a handsome business block. Four elegant cottages already contracted for. An electric road from Los Angeles to the tract is already under headway, and the company has also agreed to give the right of way and a bonus to another road, which will run from the Raymond Hotel, through their land, to Long Beach. Apply to Raymond Improvement Company, room 10, Los Angeles National Bank building, corner First and Spring streets.

Go and See the Colony Lands!

Prospective purchasers of land and town lots in the Coöperative Colony tract, desiring to visit the land, should take the 9:40 a.m. train from Los Angeles to Compton. At Compton they will be met by the colony's carriage, and conveyed to and over the tract, free of charge. Returning to the city, they will ride back to Compton in time for the incoming train.

Call at the colony office before starting, and procure tickets for the carriage ride.

Nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half-breed from the Creek Indians, who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settlers, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The demand has been increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. This great
